QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK

FIRST READING EZ 2:2-5

The Lord encourages Ezekiel to be courageous in his role as a prophet, regardless of the response of the Israelites. Can you think of a time when you had to be courageous in facing uncertainty?

SECOND READING 2 COR 12:7-10

Paul learned a “thorn in his flesh” that was given to him to teach him that God’s grace alone should be sufficient for his ministry. What are some obstacles in your life you have had to overcome?

GOSPEL READING MK 6:1-6

We hear how the villagers of Nazareth were “offended” by Jesus and lacked faith in him. How do you support family or friends who have been hurt by others? ©LPi

LIVE THE LITURGY INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK

A Prophet and His Native Place

“A prophet is not without honor except in his native place.” It could be the slogan of high school reunions everywhere.

I speak from experience — I didn’t go to my high school reunion, but I do live in the same area in which I grew up. Ghosts from the past lurk in every grocery aisle and gas station. Former classmates fill my prescriptions at the pharmacy. I am always sure to see an old teacher or two at the Fourth of July parade.

If my teenage self knew that this was her future, she would be horrified. She wanted to grow up and move away, not because she didn’t like living in this town, but because she wanted to reinvent herself. And you can’t reinvent yourself in your native place. In your hometown, you’ll always be exactly what you are — no more, no less.

The same was true for Jesus, who was probably the only person actually worthy of admiration at his high school reunion. When he returned to his native place, he was what he had always been — God and man, Messiah, miracle-worker. This is not something he became, it was always within him.

But the people of Nazareth cannot accept it. Why?

Well, probably for the same reason that I wanted to reinvent myself when I was 16. We don’t often see anything worth venerating in the “right now” of our lives. We think happiness is a promotion or a pay bump away. We think we’ll finally be holy when we find the time to take that silent retreat. We think we will be beautiful when we lose ten pounds.

The Nazarenes lived with God right under their noses, and they didn’t realize it. So, when he came in all his greatness, the dissonance was too much to bear, and they rejected him. They didn’t want that God — the one they had dismissed or overlooked or ignored. They wanted a different one. A shinier one. One that didn’t look like the “right now” of their lives.

But that’s where God is, folks. He’s in the right now, and nowhere else. He’s waiting there for you, with all the happiness, holiness, and beauty your life needs.

Jesus said to them, “A prophet is not without honor except in his native place and among his own kin and in his own house.” — Mark 6:4

14TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

The youth of the parish will be leading the music and will be the lectors at next Sunday, July 14th's Mass.

A Family Perspective

Today's gospel is so familiar, it hurts! The home town folks couldn't accept the presence of God in Jesus. After all, they had watched him grow up. We can easily make the same mistake if we don't see God present in the ordinary members of our family. "The Lord be with you" is a statement of fact. Believe it.

THE FINANCE OFFICE OF THE DIOCESE OF ERIE SHARES TIPS TO STAY SAFE AFTER RECENT SCAM ATTEMPTS:

- Trust your gut. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.
- If they are pressuring you to take action fast, they are hoping you will act without thinking.
- If they tell you something bad has happened or is about to happen, they are hoping you will react out of fear.
- If they contact you in the middle of the night, they are hoping you will react just to get back to sleep.

Watch Out for Red Flags: If you receive an email, text or phone call from your bank or credit card company (or any person for that matter) asking for personal information, that is a big red flag. It's better to be safe than sorry so end the call, delete the text, and trash the email, because Banks Never Ask That! You may be asked to verify confidential information if YOU call your bank, but never the other way around. If you receive an incoming call from someone claiming to be your bank, hang up and call the number on the back of your card.

And as always, if someone asks you to buy a gift card – especially if they ask you for the code from the back of the card – they are most likely trying to scam you. Always contact the person through official channels to verify the request is actually coming from them. This means you should NOT click reply to the email. You should call them from a number you have on hand that you know is legitimate. When it comes to a phone call, don't trust your ears. With artificial intelligence, it is very easy to fake a person's voice. In fact, you can't even trust your eyes. Scammers have sophisticated tools at their disposal and could fake a person's face during a video call.

THIS WEEK IN OUR PARISH:
